Our Speakers

Jenny Peters

Jenny did a combined social work and social policy Masters at LSE 1992-1994 and subsequently worked for the Royal Borough of Kensington and Chelsea in a community Children and Families team. After four years as Children and Families Worker for St Paul's Anglican Fellowship, in 2002 Jenny started working for St Mary's Bryanston Square as Head of all the children and families work in the church and community. Some of the projects she has set up are: Weekly Toddler Groups, monthly baby groups, a mentoring programme for new mothers and numerous parenting and marriage preparation courses. She remains on staff of St Mary's Bryanston Square and is working on the Marylebone Families Project. With her husband John, she has hosted Venue 2 at the New Wine Summer Conference.

Julia Chamberlin

Julia is Children's Work Adviser for Ely Diocese and leads women's ministry at All Saints Milton, where her husband David is Rector. She has four children and one granddaughter. Julia is passionate about encouraging the church to show and share God's love in our communities and seeks to inspire and support parishes across the Diocese of Ely in their ministry and mission with children and their families.
